THE READERS ALWAYS WRITE

Student Sales

The November issue contained the article regarding the bulletin issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, entitled "How to Make a Cat Trap." To say I was shocked, is stating it mildly.

However, I have since come upon certain information which seems much more tragic. It is that the F.F.A. boys in public schools collect cats, and sell them to biological laboratories; as a means of raising funds. This I did not believe until I corresponded with a school superintendent, and received his affirmative reply. He stated that the Humane Society made inquiries, but seemed satisfied when he explained the procedure.

To me it is appalling! I was a grade school principal for a number of years; and one of our earliest lessons was talking to the children about their pets. The first words in a child's reading vocabulary were "dog" and "kitten." Pets were used as a foundation for teaching children kindness, care, protection and consideration. We always observed National Pet Week. Now it would seem that in the span of a few short years, these principles taught in the elementary grades will become abandoned. The cat will no longer be something to cherish; but instead, something to trap and then exchange for money.

Wouldn't there be more admirable ways for school students to earn money? The cat was put on earth to be a pet, but apparently this bit of sentiment will become a thing of the past, as have many of our other traditions.

When the public schools permit such a project, children will soon learn to think of cats as synonymous to rats and guinea pigs—not as the pet they should love and protect.

This gives me a feeling of great sadness, doesn't it you?

Miss Leah E. Landon

Old Blankets Needed

This is an appeal for help. An appeal not for money, but for old blankets or pieces of woolen material that have outgrown their usefulness in the home. The Animal Rescue League, that worthy organization that does so much for homeless pets, is urgently in need of such items to bring a little comfort into the lives of the large numbers of strays that each fall and winter seek shelter from sleet and cold in the League's quarters. This is an excellent way to dispose of faded and worn blankets and other items and at the same time provide comfort for poor, unwanted pets. These woolen items are used in the cages these little creatures must occupy. If YOU have a pet that is warmly bedded at home, give a thought to these less fortunate of God's creatures and send in a little bundle, or a big one if possible, to The Animal Rescue League, 366 Albany Street, Boston 18, Mass. Let's do our best to provide a blanket for every cage, a bed for every pet.

Imported Cat Rights

Why are imported cats barred from the Novice class in America when they have never been shown either in America or overseas?

A cat is purchased and usually registered in two associations thereby establishing its citizenship. Thus it becomes an American cat by adoption and purchase, and lives in America for the rest of its life. The cat is used in breeding, and its offsprings are considered American. The offsprings may be entered in the Novice class. Why not the parent? The offsprings possess imported blood.

I can see no difference where a cat comes from whether it is purchased from another breeder in America or from a breeder overseas. Foreign countries, especially England, are responsible for the background of our cats as well as setting standards by which we govern our cats.

If a cat has been shown in another country before exported to America, it should not have the right to enter the Novice class. The barring of imported cats from the Novice class leaves only one answer: they must be considered better than the cats we are breeding in America. I challenge this by allowing imported cats to be shown as Novices. This, I believe, would encourage more importations to strengthen out bloodlines and give additional outcrosses in all breeds.

In my opinion this subject should be placed before all registry associations to defend past, present and future imports.

Albino Siamese

I am not "concerned," much less "excited" by the appearance of albinos in the litter of a pair of Siamese cats; but I am deeply interested, for feline albinism is an event toward which biologists on both sides of the Atlantic have been looking forward for a number of years, and two such kittens at a birth were more than we expected. In his latest book, Science Advances, J. B. S. Haldane, for example, says he would like to own an albino cat. Well, what scientist would not?

The occurrence has been reported to the American Genetic Association, which will no doubt refer it to the leading student of albinism in this country.

NATIONAL CAT WEEK IS HUGE SUCCESS

Fourth annual celebration of National Cat Week, November 7-13, 1948 inclusive, proved to be the greatest in the brief history of the event.

From coast to coast, National Cat Week reverberated through the Nation by means of radio and press, and above all, as a result of the conscientious efforts of individuals who pledged themselves to untiring work and zeal to make the 1948 celebration the greatest.

It is unfair to single out any individual above all others who carried out the mission of promoting National Cat Week in his or her home city, town and community. Everyone performed a noble deed in his or her way to fulfill the achievement of making National Cat Week the highly successful and significant event that it was.

We can only mention a few of the activities that did occur to mark the event, and this information was received prior to our transfer of this publication from Utica, N. Y. to Pittsburgh, Pa.

In San Diego, California, National Cat Week was the instrument used to propel plans for the construction of a cat shelter there to provide medical care and food for abandoned pets until new homes can be obtained for them.

In Fort Wayne, Ind., and Portland, Ore., spectacular exhibitions were held to show and to prove to the public the loving and interesting qualities of The Cat. In the Indiana city, a two-day exhibit was staged and attracted an unusual fine turnout. In Portland, a one-day exhibit of 1948 All-American and All-Northwestern cats resulted in a steady parade of more than 3,000 people through the rotunda of the Grand Central Public Market. The Portland event was backed up by a one-half hour radio program over a 50,000 watt station that covers the entire Northwest.

Hollywood as usual had the most glamorous celebration aided by the motion picture studios. Well known stars and starlets lost little time exhibiting their pet cats much to the interest of the newspaper reading public around the nation and the Glory of the Cat.

In Brooklyn, N. Y., the Library Association launched an unusual drive with a display of National Cat Week posters and educational literature in its 26 branches, thus creating additional interest in a new and clever manner.

Many other cities had equally important celebrations. However, as we go to press, in view of our recent transfer, the material has not been completely studied.

We do not wish to overlook the smaller communities where successful programs were carried out. Such points as New Rochelle and Fish's Eddy, N. Y., and ed National Cat Week by publishing an elaborate series of colored photographs of cats in its pages of the November issue.

Network radio stars chipped in with mentions of National Cat Week, among them being Arthur Godfrey, Fred Allen, Anna and Eleanor Roosevelt, and many others. Drew Pearson, Honorary National Chairman of Cat Week, recovering from the presidential election, likewise saluted The Cat.

Results of 1948 National Cat Week, therefore, were exceedingly gratifying to all who seriously took part in its promotion. We firmly believe that National Cat Week is now an annual event that will continue to grow to new proportions as the years speed by. National Cat Week is a young movement that belongs to each and every one whose privilege it is to own a Cat.

Experience obtained by those who carried on so actively this year, will be of the greatest aid for them during 1949's even greater event. Wheels are now in motion for 1949 National Cat Week, heralding an even greater occasion. The foundation has been firmly established but the interest cannot be permitted to lag until next November. The rapid gains must not be lost. This means constant planning by every cat owner for the next few months until the Columbus organization is set up to launch its drive for the 1949 event.

However, you who have not done so, still have a chance to support National Cat Week. There are still a few of the cute poster seals available for your envelopes. Why not slip a Dollar Membership into an envelope tonight, and bring your cat duty up to date? You will receive in return 100 of the seals, and at the same time prove yourself as a staunch supporter of the even greater National Cat Week in 1949.

Funds obtained by the sale of the 1948 seals are exhausted. Let's pitch in right now and start the ball rolling for Kitty—a Kitty of about $500 to enable National Cat Week, Inc., to start off the 1949 event as soon as possible for the benefit of all Cats.

Won't you please contact National Cat Week, Inc., 1980 Indianola Avenue, Columbus 1, Ohio, tonight?

CAT WEEK DATES FOR NEXT YEAR— NOVEMBER 6-12, 1949

The 1949 dates for National Cat Week are November 6 through November 12 inclusive, according to an announcement by John C. Newton, national chairman, National Cat Week, Inc., 1980 Indianola Ave., Columbus 1, Ohio.

At the same time it was revealed that the annual meeting of National Cat Week will be held at the Southern Hotel, Columbus, during the Ohio State Persian Club's show, January 8-9.

Tecumseh, Mich., as well as Douglas County, Washington, are but a few of many places where a job was well done.

It is well to emphasize the fact that in staging the celebrations, chairmen in charge did not overlook the fact that the primary purpose was to distribute the very important educational literature.

Nationally, too much cannot be said about the excellent work of National Cat Week, Inc., at Columbus, Ohio. The office there worked overtime to distribute posters, booklets and novelty items of an educational character and to assist the local organizations throughout the nation in many helpful ways. The national cat registry associations contributed their endorsements and urged support by member clubs.

Nationally too, the news wire and picture services of the Associated Press, United Press and International News Service, furnished helpful publicity, more so than ever before. For the first time, a large national magazine, Coronet, mark-

Cash Finding Cat Gets Cream Award

The $2,200 found by Smoky, a pet cat owned by Dr. and Mrs. Chester Myron of Jackson Heights, N. Y., has been turned over to the five children of the couple.

Last August 13, Smoky was playing with the five children in their garage. He stirred around some old radiators stored there when the heating system of the house was changed several years ago, and the money came floating down.

Since no legitimate claimants turned up, the Myron children were considered the rightful owners three months later. Each of the youngsters will receive equal shares of the money to be placed into separate educational savings accounts.

Smoky, the actual finder of the money receives a cream treat each day.

BERESFORD CAT CLUB IS 50 YEARS OLD

PUBLISHED AMERICA'S FIRST STUD BOOK IN 1899
ENGLISH JUDGE SURPRISED FANCY WITH BEST CAT VERDICT

America's oldest cat club, the Beresford Cat Club of America, incorporated in 1899, celebrates its fiftieth anniversary of continuous activity in February 1949.

The Club was organized in Chicago and twelve months later, in January 1900, staged its first of a series of annual championship exhibitions which will number fifty next month.

The Beresford Cat Club is the original organization upon which the Cat Fancy in America is built, and has weathered political coups and heresies that have done much to weaken the Fancy in America rather than build it to the lofty pinnacle it should enjoy today. But throughout the storms of insurrection, the Beresford Cat Club remains steadfast to its own ideals and to the American Cat Association which ensued from it in 1906.

When originally organized, the Beresford Cat Club was instituted as a national organization and governed the registry of all pedigree cats in America, being the guiding element behind the majority of the exhibitions staged throughout the United States and Canada until 1908 when the first major rift in the Cat Fancy occurred, successfully culminating in the formation of the Cat Fanciers' Association.

Membership in Beresford was national, although those who comprised the slate of officers and the board of directors were native Chicagoans.

As a note for the records, the following were the officers of the original Beresford organization:

Mrs. Clinton Locke, president; Mrs. Josiah Cratty and Mrs. Eames Colburn, vice-presidents; Mrs. Charles Hampton Lane, treasurer, Mrs. Chauncey F. Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles DeWitt, recording secretary; and the following board of directors: Mrs. Elwood H. Tolman, Mrs. William Penn Nixon, Mrs. Jerome H. Pratt, Mrs. M. Fisk-Green, and Miss Lucy C. Johnstone.

The Stud Book and Registry of the Beresford Cat Club appeared in 1900, with the first volume showing entries made from July 1899 to July 1900, totaling 146. An entry was made upon payment of One Dollar. The first entry was No. 101, a Golden-eye Blue Female Long-hair named Lake Shore Vashti, owned by Mrs. S. E. Gross of Chicago.

Four volumes of the Stud Book and Registry were published with the final Volume IV, including entries up to July 1905. Miss Lucy C. Johnstone was the Recorder and continued in that capacity with the American Cat Association stud books. Final entry in the Beresford registry was No. 1039.

The organizing of the Beresford Cat Club was by no means the first to be undertaken in America. In 1896, after the second New York cat show, held at Madison Square Garden, an American

Cat Club was founded for the purpose of "investigating, ascertaining and keeping a record of the pedigree of cats, and instituting, maintaining, controlling, and publishing a stud book of registry of such kind of domestic animals in the United States of America and Canada, and of promoting and holding exhibitions of such animals, and generally for the purpose of improving the breed thereof, and educating the public in its knowledge of the various breeds and varieties of cats."

Nor was the Beresford Cat Club the first to be established in Chicago. One month prior to the formation of Beresford, the Chicago Cat Club was an incorporated unit under the direction of Dr. C. A. White and Mrs. Leland Norton, its president. The Chicago Cat Club staged its first show before the operating machinery was set up for the initial Beresford exhibition. Other cat shows had been held in Chicago in conjunction with poultry exhibits as early as 1896.

The Beresford Cat Club was named in honor of Lady Marcus Beresford of England, one of the greatest personalities to become interested in the raising, breeding and exhibiting of pedigree cats.

Lady Beresford had been in constant contact with breeder-exhibitors in America, particularly those in Chicago. Much of England's outstanding show stock found a ready market among the Chicago enthusiasts where they proved to be capable exhibit specimens and even greater producers of fine cats, thanks to the honesty and interest of Lady Beresford. The opinions of these Chicago cat enthusiasts in reference to Lady Beresford therefore must have been unusually great for them to name their club in her honor.

It was Mrs. Clinton Locke, the Beresford Club's first president and original founder, who was the guiding genius in the new-found pedigree cat interest in America at the turn of the century. The wife of the rector of Grace church, who later founded the famous St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago, Mrs. Locke is said to be the first woman to operate a "cattery" in America. According to Helen M. Winslow in her book, "Concerning Cats", published in 1900, Mrs. Locke had "done a great deal of good among the various charities of her city, simply from the income derived from her kennels. She had been very generous in gifts of her kittens to other women who have made the raising of fine cats a means to add to a slender income, and has sent beautiful cats all over the United States, to Mexico and even to Germany . . . It is fully twenty-five years since Mrs. Locke began to turn her attention to fine cats and when she imported her first cat to Chicago, there was only one other in the United States." (The first imported cat, according to Miss Winslow, was Madam, a Black Longhair from Spain.)

Mrs. Locke remained actively engaged as an exhibitor and breeder of Persians, Siamese and Russians until ill health forced her to resign as president of the Club in 1913. She had also been President of the American Cat Association since its founding in 1906.

The stock exhibited by Mrs. Locke was perhaps the finest in America in its day, and some of the great cats in America now, may be traced back to those early winners of the famed Lockeaven Cattery.

At the first Beresford show, Locke-aven Smerdis, a Silver male, was judged

MRS. CLINTON LOCKE

Best Cat, which Miss Winslow emphatically states "is the son of the greatest chinchilla in the world." Smerdis was an import from England and was sired by Lord Southampton ex Silver Spray, and was bred by a Mrs. Trumper of Windsor, England. He was born May 22, 1897.

Commenting on the first Beresford Cat Club show, Miss Winslow writes: "One hundred seventy-eight prizes were awarded in the show of January 1900, and some magnificent cats were shown. It is said by those who are in a position to know that there are no better cats shown in England now than can be seen at the Beresford show in Chicago. The exhibits cover short and longhaired cats of all colors, sizes and ages with Siamese cats, Manx cats and Russian cats. At the show in January 1900, Mrs. Clinton Locke exhibited fourteen cats of one color and Mrs. Josiah Cratty five white cats. This Club numbers one hundred and seventy members and has a social position and consequent strength second to none in America . . ."

Despite the glowing reports of the Beresford Club's first show, no mention was made of the total number of exhibits. However, it must have been fairly large. From another source, the writer learns that the show of 1902 had 250 cats, "100 in excess of any show held in America" (up to that time).

In each of the first three Beresford events, Mrs. Locke's stock carried off the Best Cat Award. In 1901, the Blue female, Melrose Lassie was the winner, followed by Lupin, a Blue male in 1902.

With 1903, the Locke dynasty of Best Cat in Show, came to an end when Bar-

HIT OR MISS DIAGNOSIS

by Rita Swenson

A healthy cat, regardless of whether or not he is a show type, is a joy. His coat is soft, his eyes bright and clear, his body strong and muscular and conveying better than mere words the vitality and strength of which he is possessed. The healthy cat is active, playful, light on his feet and keenly interested in all that goes on about him. His appetite is good, his co-ordination faultless, his whole being, in fact, radiating so much good feeling that one cannot but admire him. Is it surprising then that one should strive so hard to acquire and maintain sound health in his show or pet cats?

Good cat care is simply sensible care—feeding of the right foods at regular intervals, housing in quarters that are cozy, warm, and free of damp and drafts, a systematic regard for grooming. Yet, in spite of the best care, cats do sometimes suffer from little or big ailments which require medication in some form or another. No matter how much we do for our cats it is impossible to protect them from all ills. However, it is comforting to know that the years bring with them the know-how to prevent or at least nip in the bud, ailments that might prove fatal in the hands of a novice. This does not mean that the long-time breeder has nothing more to learn, but simply that her vast experience in handling many cats over a period of many years enables her to correctly diagnose and treat most of the common cat ailments. The novice breeder, on the other hand, is uncertain of both diagnosis and treatment, and only every day care of cats over a period of time can replace that uncertainty with confidence. But knowledge can be gained little by little and before one knows it the novice of yesterday is an authority.

A great deal of cat knowledge can be gained by reading some of the good cat books now on the market. One can learn about general care of cats, types and breeds of cats, scientific breeding, registering and showing cats, among other things. A vast amount of knowledge is available just for the reading. One can also learn that there are such things as enteritis, distemper, worms, gastritis, indigestion, hair cough etc, but this is knowledge that registers slowly.

One may learn that there ARE such things, but recognizing them on sight is another matter. This is the field of the experienced breeder and the veterinary, the field where the intelligent breeder knows her limitations and admits them, the field where proper diagnosis means flourishing cats—improper diagnosis, the wiping out of a cattery overnight. A well cat may be neglected in small ways and survive, but a sick cat must be treated promptly and correctly or it will succumb in record time.

One cannot stress too strongly the value of correctly diagnosing a cat's ailment and it is certainly true that the cat will not respond to treatment if the method employed is incorrect. Many inexperienced persons make the mistake of trusting their own judgment too much the result being that a simple ailment is aggravated to the point where the cat's strength is taxed the limit. Cat ailments very often have many of the same symptoms and these are frequently the stumbling block of the would-be diagnostician. Obvious symptoms are so apt to be misleading that even a veterinarian bolsters his opinion with a urine or stool analysis, blood test, X-ray or other tests as indicated. Unless one is absolutely sure of what he is doing, he should not inflict various concoctions on his pet hoping to cure it. If one really loves his pet, he should not use it for a guinea pig.

As illustrations, numerous cases spring to mind. Take, for example, the condition diarrhea. It could be caused by any one of a number of things—a too laxative food, worms, coccidiosis, fermented hair, enteritis. A cough might be the forerunner of a cold, or an accumulation of hair in the stomach. Sneezing might be caused by dust or hair in the nose, or it might indicate a cold coming on. Vomiting of worms might mean the cat has a bad infestation, or it might mean that his stomach is sore, or ulcerous, making it impossible for him to retain his food. Watery eyes might mean worms, a local infection, or one of the symptoms of distemper. Treating the obvious symptoms and overlooking the cause, might well place the cat on the danger list. It doesn't take much imagination to visualize the results of improper procedure in some of these cases.

These remarks, naturally, are not intended to scare any new breeders or pet owners, but merely to impress upon them the advisability of calling in a good (Continued on Page 21)

Amazing Relief for TORTURED Dogs and Cats

SKIN ITCH: Don't be too quick to blame fleas, mange, diet, if pets itch—scratch continually. 2 to 1 it's "FUNGITCH," fungus infection discovered by noted veterinarian, Dr. A. C. Merrick. Much like athlete's foot, it itches painfully—soon develops dandruff-like scales or mouldy-smelling brownish-edged sores around tail, on paws, back or underbody. Dr. Merrick's SULFODENE applied externally stops the itching in minutes—clears up scales and sores in a few days. Generous treatment $1.00 in stores or order direct—address below

EAR CANKER: If pet repeatedly rubs ear on floor, etc., shakes head or holds it in a stiff, unnatural way, examine ears carefully. If hot—sensitive—musty-smelling, you know it's ear canker (otitis). Apply Dr. Merrick's EAR CANKER Creme at once. Simply squeeze Creme from handy metal tube into the affected ear. Creme contains wonder-drug Tyrothricin. Works swiftly to relieve pain, remove causes and promote healing of ear canker. Don't let your pet suffer another day. U. S. RABIES REGULATIONS AFFECTING CATS

by Ida M. Mellen

Cat lovers will be happy to learn that the Rabies Regulations requiring inoculation of domestic felines arriving at our ports from abroad are about to be changed.

As the Regulations stand at present, cats, dogs and monkeys arriving from certain countries such as Spain, Morocco, South America, the Orient, et cetera, must receive the rabies inoculation, but not those coming from other countries such as Great Britain, Eire, Australia, Scandinavia, et cetera. It sounds mysterious, and to add to the mystery and perplexity, veterinarians appointed by the Government to inoculate cats against rabies have loathed the job and openly declared that while perfectly safe for dogs, the inoculation has killed many a fine cat.

For some months the authorities have been pried by the present writer with such sceptical questions as these: Why should cats be considered dangerous when coming here from one country but not when from another? Why are cats required to be vaccinated at all? Has any domestic cat or any wildcat of a species from which domestic cats are belived to have sprung ever been known to develop rabies spontaneously, like dogs? Have any monkeys or other Anthropoidea ever been observed to develop rabies in the natural state? If so, why do not all members of this group, including man, develop this disease spontaneously? Others, perhaps, put similar queries; but no answers were forthcoming, though the authorities, as we know now, were not ignoring the matter. Government veterinarians may have entered their protests also, so that pressure was being brought from various angles.

It may be interpolated here that with regard to carrying cats abroad, the owner should first ascertain the importation and quarantine rules from the Consulate General of the country to which he is sailing. Some countries are not interested in rabies, yet require a six months' quarantine on general principles. Others govern their rulings by ours, and when the United States eliminates its Rabies Regulations affecting cats, they will do the same.

This article is concerned principally with cats entering our own ports, and news of an impending amendment of the rules, contained in a letter lately received from the Assistant Chief of the Foreign Quarantine Division of the United States Public Health Service, will serve to lighten the hearts of all travelers bringing such pets from abroad into this country:

"At a recent meeting of all the quarantine officers from major ports in the United States, it was decided to amend our present regulations to exclude cats from requiring rabies vaccination prior to importation into the United States. At this meeting a leading veterinarian discussed this problem and stated that rabies in cats is rare. There are cases in which the cat can obtain rabies from a rabid dog, but the cat is usually killed because of the usual disproportion of size between the dog and cat.

F. W. Kratz, Senior Surgeon
Assistant Chief,
Foreign Quarantine Division"

(Editor's Note—The above extract is from a letter to Miss Ida M. Mellen, D. Sc., dated October 4, 1948, from the U. S. Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency, Washington).

timeous, an Orange-eye White male, owned by Mrs. Josiah Cratty won the award.

It was the Beresford Cat Club show in 1908 that provided the greatest boost for the Siamese cat in America. Heretofore, the Siamese was accepted as just another entry and was listed as a shorthair variety in one class.

Beresford Club's Anniversary Show To Be Held in January

The Beresford Cat Club show to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the group will be held January 29-30 in the twin Terrace Ballroom, Chicago, it has been announced. Judge of the event will be Mrs. Jesse Adair.

The Beresford show officials, in an effort to have an outstanding judge never before seen officiating at an American exhibition, contacted and secured the services of Mr. Louis Wain.

Mr. Wain was one of England's greatest authorities on cats, and was popular throughout the Empire as an artist of unusual merits featuring above all other subjects, drawings of cats. His illustration

JOHN NEWTON, NATIONAL CAT WEEK HEAD, WINS 1948 ANNUAL CATS MAGAZINE AWARD

John C. Newton, a 15 year old Columbus, Ohio high school student, has been named the winner of the 1948 Annual CATS Magazine Award.

The Award is offered to the person, institution or organization that has contributed most during the preceding 12 months, for the advancement and welfare of The Cat, in the opinion of the publisher of this publication.

John C. Newton is the National Chairman of National Cat Week, Inc. His faithful service and energetic work in behalf of The Cat, and his development and operation of the national headquarters of National Cat Week, Inc., at Columbus, Ohio, has proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that there can be no more worthy candidate for the Annual Award for 1948.

Under his direction and supervision, National Cat Week, Inc., has become a major celebration in the Nation each November, and reached its heights during 1948 to firmly establish it as a national institution, bringing home to America the value, humane understanding, and appreciation of The Cat.

John C. Newton has been an outstanding candidate for the Award since its inception, and CATS magazine is very happy and honored to name this fine young gentleman as the recipient of the 1948 Award.

The activities of John C. Newton on behalf of The Cat was first brought to the attention of the American public in 1946 when he received the Humane Act Award, given annually by the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The Ohio schoolboy first became interested in cats when he was eleven years old. "I have loved cats all my life", he writes, "in fact, I grew up with a black and white cat named Toto who was older than I."

"I am interested in all kinds of cats from the so-called 'alley' to the aristocrat," he continues. "I am very much interested in the showing of cats, and some day I hope to become a judge."

John C. Newton has met with the outstanding feline authorities and exhibitors in the East, Midwest and South and has been accumulating a background of information of a feline nature to make him one of the best informed young leaders and an exceptionally fine director for the ever-increasing interest in National Cat Week.

"My work with National Cat Week," he writes, "has been an education in itself. I think it has done more good than some of my schooling. I have had the pleasure of meeting many famous and important people including the top leaders of the Cat Fancy, as well as Drew Pearson, Bascom Timmons and many others. And then I have met and talked with just plain cat lovers from all over the United States. This, to me, has been one of the high points of my experience in this work."

The Annual CATS Magazine Award carries with it a United States Government bond which will be presented to John C. Newton at Columbus, Ohio, January 8, during The Ohio State Persian Club exhibition by Charles A. Kenny, publisher of CATS Magazine.

BERESFORD CAT CLUB

tions appeared in the great English magazines of the era, and he was referred to by publishers and readers alike as The Prince of English Illustrators. Mr. Wain's hobby and side-interests were his cats. He was an outstanding figure in the English Cat Fancy and for many years served as president of the National Cat Club of England.

On February 4-5-6, 1908, Beresford staged its annual show, and Mr. Louis Wain, ably assisted by Mr. A. F. Field-Marshal of Canada, was the judge. When the event was concluded, Mr. Wain placed the Best Cat Award on the cage of Lockhaven Elsa, a Seal Point Siamese female, owned by Mrs. Clinton Locke.

Needless to say the decision of Mr. Wain was a thunderbolt of surprise, and shook the American Cat Fancy from coast-to-coast. As a result of this unusual victory for the little-regarded Siamese, the opinions of many well-known exhibitors towards this breed had a nationwide change. No longer did exhibitors and judges look upon a Siamese as a "novelty cat." The Siamese had arrived finally! Interest was so aroused that by the following year, the Siamese Cat Society of America was formed and has been in continuous operation ever since.

The Best Cat Award to Lockhaven Elsa in 1908 marked the fourth and final one for Mrs. Clinton Locke. However, no individual has topped the founder of the Beresford Cat Club with four Best Cat Awards over the half-century span.

Runner-up to Mrs. Locke in this respect is Miss Carroll Macy of New York. In 1911 and in 1913, Miss Macy's Silver male, Champion King Winter, one of the greatest of his breed ever to compete in the show rings in America, won Best Cat. In 1917, she added a third Best with the Silver female, The Viking.

In 1926 and again in 1929, Champion La Belle Knight in Blue Boots of Gondolier, a Blue male, owned by a Mrs. Bell, captured the Best Cat Award, to tie with King Winter.

At the Beresford show held in January 21-22, 1928, the Club instituted an unusual award by presenting a "Champion of Champions" trophy, valued at $100 together with $100 in gold to the Best Cat in America. The prize was offered by Mr. A. M. Armbruster of Florida. The title was won by Ch. Dawn o' Pax of Central Crest, a Silver male, owned by Mesdames O. A. and E. J. Brundage. The finest cats from every section of America competed for the title and prize.

The offer was made again in 1929, resulting in La Belle Knight winning the title.

Today, Beresford Cat Club is still the colorful organization it has been since the American Cat Fancy was established. It is a symbol of loyalty and has remained as firm as an oak by the side of the American Cat Association.

Its shows are built upon the tradition that has gathered through the years. Its annual exhibitions and its monthly meetings have always been an attraction for cat enthusiasts from everywhere in the United States and Canada and from overseas as well. Beresford today is a Chicago institution, and is synonymous with Cat Show. It is the beacon of the American Cat Fancy the world over and will continue to be as long as the exhibition of pedigree cats in America is an interesting and useful diversion among lovers of animals.

PICK THE WINNER—Bernard Puley, aged 4, proudly holds Valide, blue-eye White Female Longhair owned by his parents, as he awaits his turn to receive a blue ribbon at the Grand Cat Exposition staged at the Continental Hotel in Paris in November. Police in Salem, Mass., are scouring the countryside for a three-legged cat.

She walked into police headquarters on a Sunday night in October and won the affection of every member of the force. Policemen agreed she was the prettiest kitten that walked on —three legs.

Captain James F. O'Donnell ordered: "Find her and bring her back."

Her description: She has no right hind leg.

CAT TAILS ..

by Billie Bancroft
Associate Editor

I have had a delightful air-mail conversation with Audrey Trapp, Calico Cattery, Minneapolis, who is the owner of Double Champion General Bataan, a red tabby. Incidentally, the General Won The Billie Bancroft Trophy awarded the Persian with the most type, ten pounds or more, in the Minneapolis Show early in the season. The General it seems is a honey so far as disposition is concerned—while at home. He does not like to be groomed and considers himself devastatingly handsome at all times and has tried repeatedly to convince Audrey that all this spit-and-polish business should be with the women-cats only. However, Audrey had different ideas and under protest his whiskers were burnished and his coat shined and this big-red-and-handsome was entered in a Show. Mrs. Saxby-Mabie was his judge. She liked him so well she exhibited him in her two hands held high over her head for all in the hall to see—holding him in the carefree manner she would hold a lovable little kitten. All the time Audrey was standing there, holding her breath, hoping against hope that the General would behave himself. Judge Saxby-Mabie placed him in his cage—and just as she closed the gate—the General took a heavy swing at her—and missed!

Judge Mabel Erdman of Lebanon, Pennsylvania, tells me she once had a cat that knocked to be admitted to the house. Should a visitor arrive at the Erdman home and this cat take a liking to said visitor, she would go out the back way and around to the front entrance and knock, hoping the visitor would answer the door—all this was to impress the visitor how very smart she was. I am truly sorry I have not got the cat's name.

The red Tabby seems to be more and more in demand all the time.

I am more or less breaking a rule when I quote Mrs. George Perry, 708 N. Spadra, California. She sends me a tribute to the red Tabby that is so beautiful I'd like to set it to music. Quote, The Red Tabby Speaks,—We are called the Red Tabby, we should be called the king of Cats as the Lion is called the king of beasts, no artist's brush can truly paint us, sunbeams, rubies and pure gold could not duplicate our coloring. We are royalty supreme of Catdom, like red-bearded kings and lovely red-haired princesses bedecked with all the crown jewels of the kingdom. We wear rings and necklaces, rows and rows of bracelets, with a bejeweled pendant on our foreheads. We have flashing eyes of polished copper nuggets. Our fiery section in a Show Room bring exclamations of surprise and wonder. Nice going Mrs. Perry, YOU set it to music!!!!

Florence Kemmer, that nice gal from down Florida way, is taking in all Shows in the Newark and Philadelphia section. Talking with her yesterday she gave me the following story regarding Lady, a solid Red Persian, a spoiled pet, loved by everyone and used to mixing with all the guests of the Kemmer home and taking as a matter of course that all the attention bestowed on her was a tribute to her royal self. One day a young couple called, they had always, always made a fuss over Lady on all their previous visits. This day they arrived with their new baby, each member of the family made much of the newest visitor and Lady was left out in the cold as far as attention was concerned. She sat in the center of a circle and looked at each person in turn and you could almost see her brain puzzling the queer problem that confronted her. After several minutes of thought she rushed from the room but was back in a few minutes with one of her own three weeks old babies in her mouth. She jumped up on the couch and put down her baby, turned and said 'meou-meou'. Which meant, 'see my baby too?' She received plenty of attention after that and was very happy. Who says animals don't think?

Rita Swenson shipped her Abyssinian down to the Penn State Show last week, he was the hit of the town and attracted more attention than three cats his size should have attracted. This fellow is called Daquiri—so named because Rita considers him a very 'heedy' boy—and further states that he really needs a name like that to properly describe him. She goes on the theory that cats should have names that suits their personality. Well, Daquiri was on the Judge's Bench, he was picked up, the Judge was explaining his unusual traits and markings to the public at large. Daquiri twisted in her arms, gave her one icy glare, leaped out of her arms and cleared the platform in one leap, speeding across the hall to his own private compartment. I interviewed him after all this was over. He told me in confidence that he knew the Judge was not going to give him enough points to be a grand champion and that he could not be annoyed with less. A few days later Daquiri made his appearance at the Garden State Show, every reporter that covered the Show, yes and every feature writer, asked 'Where is Daquiri?'—I think that Mrs. Swenson should know that Daquiri is a demoralizing character to have around—all he has to do is open his mouth and tell the world what a swell guy he is—and they crowd around him three deep—I know one gal that is planning on sending Daquiri a rag dolly for Christmas.

THE Breeders' Digest

This Department for Breeders and Exhibitors returns after an absence of several months. Breeder-Exhibitors are urged to forward news and announcements to the Editor, The Breeders' Digest, CATS, for inclusion in later issues.

Colleen Aslyn of Bodega Bay, Calif., is thrilled over the arrival of six white kittens presented to her by Glen Moor Angel of Shanna Groith, sired by Montpelier Buddee O'Bear, 1948 Northwest-ern Orange-eye White.

Mrs. Elsie Collins reports shipment of the Cream male, Collinsdale Buff of Lanny Lea to Dr. Newell L. Moore of Santa Ana, Calif., by air. The kit is bound to be a favorite.

A heavy winter show program has been arranged by Mrs. Arthur J. Smith of Miami for her two shaded silver lovelies, a "brother-sister act." Citrus Ridge Pericles and Citrus Ride Pricilla. Mrs. Smith was on "pins and needles" awaiting word of the outcome of the Atlanta show because if Pricilla won in the Georgia event, she would be assured of her CFA championship.

Mrs. Everett M. Battey of Farming-ham, Mass., reveals in a recent letter that her 1947 Eastern Seal Point Siamese win-veterinary when the least bit uncertain of his own diagnosis. There is nothing more heartbreaking than losing a promising specimen through ones own lack of skill and once the cat is gone, no amount of self recrimination can bring it back. It is always better to be safe than sorry. Remember, no one is more adept at doctoring than the doctor.

Today, veterinarians are more skilled in the art of cat care than in the past, and aided by the marvelous drugs and equipment available to them, are performing near miracles in surgery and methods of treatment. Don't deny your cat this skill when illness visits your home—instead, consult one of these specialists. Guesswork will be eliminated, making it possible to return the cat to its old vigorous state.

Success with cats, no matter for what purpose they are kept, depends on their condition. Give your cat the best, and the best will be returned.

lisher of England's CATS AND KIT-TENS. This is the first known export to England in recent years, and marks the first Burmese cat to arrive in England. In exchange Mr. France is sending a pair of Lady Barnard's fine female Abys. The trade is one of the biggest to be arranged in recent years, since it brings to America some brand new blood in the Aby line, which is so badly needed, and at the same time, launches a new breed of foreign shorthairs in England. More about this important exchange later.

THIS IS THE GIFT SEASON. So may we suggest that an Annual Subscription to OUR CATS would be the perfect present for one or more of your cat-loving friends.

At Fond Du Lac, Wis., a cat chased a mouse and got its head stuck in the mousehole. Police had to use a crowbar to lift a section of the staircase and free the trapped puss.

Mrs. Bertha Scheele of Chicago was burned to death when she attempted to rescue her 20 cats in the basement of her home November 10. When the house caught fire, she ran to her cellar to save them. Her body was found beside two of her pets when firemen put out the flames.

A United Press news dispatch from Tokyo, Japan reports that 1,481 cats died there in the past four months of a disease that might be "Japanese sleeping sickness."

The figure was given by Tokyo veterinarians, who added that the deaths of thousands of other cats might have gone unreported.

YOU, TOO, WILL LIKE LABCO!

as much as Mrs. Rita Swenson
Casa Loma Cattery, 18 Willow St., North Adams, Mass.

Mrs. Swenson is shown with her "Casa Loma's Cupid", who has won many ribbons at various Cat Shows.

Mrs. Swenson writes: "It was my pleasure to be the first Cat Fancier to try Labco Pet Shampoo over three years ago. I have used this fine shampoo ever since, and have recommended it to my friends. It definitely kills fleas, mites and other insect pests. Its gentle cleaning action leaves the coat soft and lustrous, and absolutely free of dulling film.

"I have likewise used Labco Dry-Clean Lotion as a quick-cleaner at shows with wonderful results. Labco Hair-Ball Remedy and Labco Germicide are also used regularly in my cattery.

"I wholeheartedly recommend all four Labco products to all Cat Fanciers."
